Bright, sunny and waaaaarm...but very little wind. We ran the "walk back" scenario this month, all steel targets for the first 4 stages, paper for the last 2. Walking out to @800yds. for the first stage and hiking back at each successive stage. (Note to self: bring more water. It will get lighter as you move back!)

Stage 1) Off Hand (OH), Kneeling (KNL), Prone (PRN)-Just like it says; 5 targets, 2 rounds ea. and move on at increasing distance from 75yds. to 222yds., sequence (seq)-1-KNL,2-OH,3-OH,4-PRN,5-PRN. Henry blazed through this stage with 8 hits.

Stage 2) Moving back to the top of the 700yd. impact berm this stage also had 5 targets, 2 rounds ea. and move on. Distances from 143yds. to 314. We allowed a tripod and 1 bag. Henry again rocked this stage with another 8 hits.

Stage 3) Climbing down the berm we shuffled back to the 600yd. berm to shoot 5 targets, 2 rounds ea. and move on. Dist.-263 to 410yds. from prone w/bipod and 1 bag. Sean blew the doors off this stage with 9 hits.

Stage 4) The shuffling continued back to the 380yd. flag berm (the water deprivation was producing a grumbling and long suffering tone). The KYL was shot from a half size tank trap (Henry supplied the range with the half and a full size tank trap), with 10 total shots we had to clean the KYL and then move on to the segmented target at 1,000yds., dist.-209 and 632 yards. Jeff and Sean not only cleaned the KYL but got hits on the seg.target for a tie at this stage.

Stage 5) Limping and dehydrated (a well armed zombie posse, so to speak) we made it back to our vehicles parked at the 200yd. flag for snacks and water. After refreshing ourselves we split up to either shoot or work the Timed Exposure/Movers stage. Timed X - 600yd, 5rnd, 5x3sec. exposures of an 8.5"x11" colored cardboard square on a 1"x2"x6' stick. Each shooter is assigned a color and must engage it when exposed at random points along the target berm. Phil and Martin got 4 hits each.

Stage 6) Moooo-vers, IPSC cardboard torsos with corresponding color (from Timed X), 15rnd, 5x15sec. exposures, 15 points poss.. All targets appear at random points along target berm and move at patrol speed (@1.5mph) for 15 sec., then they are lowered and the sequence repeats 4 more times. Connor ventilated that mover pretty good with 11 solid whacks

Phil McDaniel had the most consistent scores at or near the top to squeak a 1 point victory over Connor. The top 3 shooters were 1 point apart. This was a very consistently good group of trigger pullers to complete this COF. Thanks to all the competitors for helping to take down and store the targets. Next match will be on a Sunday, Sept. 29th so plan accordingly. Cheers, Martin - Match Director
